

Working it out with

Breast Implants

Working out after a breast implant operation can certainly feel different and if you're not careful enough, you can dislodge the implants or even cause pain. We tell you what you need to know about working out safely and effectively with breast implants.

BY MAYA ANDERSON

