The best breasts

For many women, our breasts symbolise our most feminine physical characteristic. But for various reasons — lack of development, post-pregnancy changes resulting from breastfeeding, radical weight loss, ageing — you may be considering breast augmentation.

A successful breast augmentation shouldn't necessarily look obviously different ... in fact, the success hinges on the doctor's surgical technique and attention to detail. Renowned Sydney plastic surgeon Dr Kourash Tavakoli has developed a specialised breast practice and his reputation is based on understanding the essentials of natural breast augmentation.

Dr Tavakoli uses his extensive experience to treat not only poorly developed or shaped breasts, but also sagging breasts, common in women after breastfeeding and/or weight loss.

The Australian-trained plastic surgeon also promises minimal scarring and ensures his patients feel comfortable with what is an intimate procedure. Further reason why Dr Tavakoli has one of this country's busiest breast implant practices.
